DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: on page 5, line 20 "510" it appears should be --560-- and on page 6, line 4 "610" it appears should be --510--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The structural details of the adjusting means that permit the windshield position to be adjusted are not understood. The structural details of the manual override switch are not understood. The structural details of the position detection circuit are not understood.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3765

5. Claims 1-12, 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Canadian patent to Fisk. With respect to claims 1, 7 and 14 note the provided helmet 12, windshield 14 and operating mechanisms as at 16, 18 equivalent to the means for automatically adjusting a position of the windshield as claimed. Inherently the operating mechanism of Fisk would function relative to the speed of a vehicle as it is capable of responding to a transmitted signal. With respect to claims 2, 3, 8 and 9 the specifics of the predetermined threshold value do not set forth any structure of the adjusting means not taught by the adjusting means of Fisk. With respect to claim 4 note the control circuit at 74 for receiving and performing a Boolean operation with regards signals from a transmitter 116. With respect to claim 5 note power supply 122. With respect to claim 6 note the manual override switch 96. With respect to claims 10 and 15 note the receiver and filter circuit as at 74 receiving signals from a device on a motorcycle and performing a Boolean operation on the signals, and the control circuit as at motor 96. With respect to claim 11 the source of the signals is not seen to set forth any structure of the control system not found in the control system of Fisk. With respect to claim 12 note the manual override switch "switch 96".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Canadian patent to Fisk in view of Acquaviva. Fisk does not teach the position detection circuit and encoder.

Art Unit: 3765

Acquaviva teaches a position detection circuit 70 and encoder 71 for sending a detection signal to a control circuit for motor 21M (see column 7, lines 12-32). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide the system of Fisk with the position detection circuit 70 and encoder 71 of Acquaviva to achieve the advantage of establishing a threshold value for operation of the motor.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Note particularly, the controlled visors of Pei, Fantin and French patent to Degoin.
